LIGHTING FIXTURE CO.

CONTEMPORARY pg.6 - 165

While contemporary, in the most literal sense, means "what's happening now", today's contemporary light fixtures focus on basics of line, shape, and form to create an artistic statement.

CLASSIC pg.166 - 219

These pieces find inspiration from Colonial, Victorian, and European eras. Classic lighting is ornamental and elaborate dark wood materials, linen shades paired with gold, bronze, or brass finishes. They possess shape and symmetry. Smooth curves and gentle edges are the foundation of classic decor.

ARTISAN pg.220 - 271

An artisan (from Italian: artigiano) is a skilled craft worker who makes or creates material objects partly or entirely by hand. Artisans practice a craft and may through experience and aptitude reach the expressive levels of an artist.

ARTISAN FIXTURES

Founded over 80 years ago with beautiful & ornate handcrafted lighting

In today's world of eye-catching advertising buzzwords, you will see the term "artisan" frequently used to create the perception of high value or unique character. Since its inception, the lighting industry has viewed an artisan as a skilled worker who creates and handcrafts ornate and attractive fixtures, typically utilizing timeless methods and materials:

Lost wax process: also called "cire-perdue", is a method of metal casting in which molten metal is poured into mold that has been created by way of a wax model. Common worldwide, the lost-wax method has dates from the 3rd Millenium B.C. and has seen little change since.

Venetian, or Murano, glass: used to describe a variety of glasswares made in Venice, Italy beginning in the 13th Century. In 1291, glass manufacturers moved across a lagoon to the islands of Murano, where they remain today.

Glassblowing: Created in the middle of the first century, glassblowing exploits the ability to use air to expand molten glass.

Crystal: Although not technically accurate to describe lead glass, the use of the term "lead crystal" remains popular for commercial and historical reasons. It is retained from the Venetian word Cristallo to describe the rock crystal imitated by Murano glassmakers.
