How We Test Airflow

Emerson tests every ceiling fan to standardized industry testing parameters. The CFM data (Cubic Feet per Minute) is printed on the energy guide label of every fan carton and in every catalog. This is the amount of air movement the user feels when beneath the fan. CFM is an objective approach to making competitive comparisons. Blade pitch, RPM (revolutions per minute), blade length and overall design are used to maximize CFM. CFM is the true measure of air flow.

Understanding the Energy Guide Tag

1. AIRFLOW: This number represents the average CFM (Cubic Feet per Minute) of airflow the fan produces based on a weighted average[1] between high speed and low speed and is a way to compare the performance of fans. This number will be lower than high speed alone.
2. AIRFLOW EFFICIENCY: This number represents the amount of airflow produced per watt of electricity and is expressed as CFM/Watt. The higher the number, the more airflow produced per watt of energy use. As with CFM, the number is based on a weighted average[1] between high speed and low speed and is a way to compare the performance of fans.
3. ENERGY USE: This number represents the amount of electricity the fan uses in Watts per hour and is a weighted average[1] between high speed and low speed and off (standby mode). Some remote control ceiling fans and other electronics in a fan use a small amount of electricity even when the fan is in standby mode, so this is taken into consideration in the formula for calculating energy use as well. This number will be lower than watts on high speed alone.
4. ESTIMATED YEARLY ENERGY COST: This number is based on a calculation determined by the U.S. Department of Energy to deduce the yearly cost for operating your ceiling fan.

ENERGYGUIDE INFORMATION

[1] Weighted average is based on usage hours as defined by the U.S. Department of Energy.

PREMIUM HIGH-PERFORMANCE

K55XL MOTOR*

Excellent power & performance motor

- The largest steel ball bearings in the ceiling fan industry ensure quiet operation
- Thick motor laminations and over 2,200 feet of quality copper wiring for optimal performance and longevity
- The patented K55XL Silent Rubber Hub works as a shock absorber to isolate the blades and eliminate noise transmission

WHEN ENERGY MATTERS

ECOMOTOR

Up to 3 times more efficient than typical ceiling fan motors - costs less than 1¢ per hour to run

- Uses a maximum of 33 watts of energy
- Higher degree blade pitch moves air more efficiently
- 6-Speed control with every fan
- DC EcoMotor fans, which are featured in our Blade Select Series, are adaptable to 42"/44", 52"/54", 58"/60" or 70"/72" fans for added versatility & quiet operation*

* Some blade restrictions apply. Please refer to individual product pages for more information

STANDARD 8 FOOT CEILINGS

Most Emerson fans are designed to fit a standard 8-foot ceiling, which puts the blades 7 feet from the floor for the best air movement and required ground clearance.

CEILINGS LESS THAN 8 FEET

Choose an Emerson Snugger model to achieve the minimum 7-foot blade clearance or consider a close-to-the-ceiling downrod (CFDR25). See pg 211 for model compatibility.

CEILINGS ABOVE 8 FEET

To maximize air movement, the fan should be hung by a downrod 8 to 9 feet from the floor. If necessary, order an accessory downrod to achieve the proper length. See the Selecting Your Downrod Length on pg 9.

LIMITED LIFETIME MOTOR WARRANTY

All Emerson fans, except Industrial Fans, carry our Limited Lifetime Motor Warranty when purchased through an authorized Emerson distributor.

DOWNROD LENGTH TO CEILING

HANGING SYSTEM

All Emerson residential ceiling fans feature a die-cast zinc hanger ball and bracket for durability. This system is textured to minimize wobble and provide superior stability. Emerson Industrial Fans feature a J-hook hanging system or ball and bracket for easy installation and smooth performance.

CHOOSE THE RIGHT FAN TO FIT YOUR ROOM

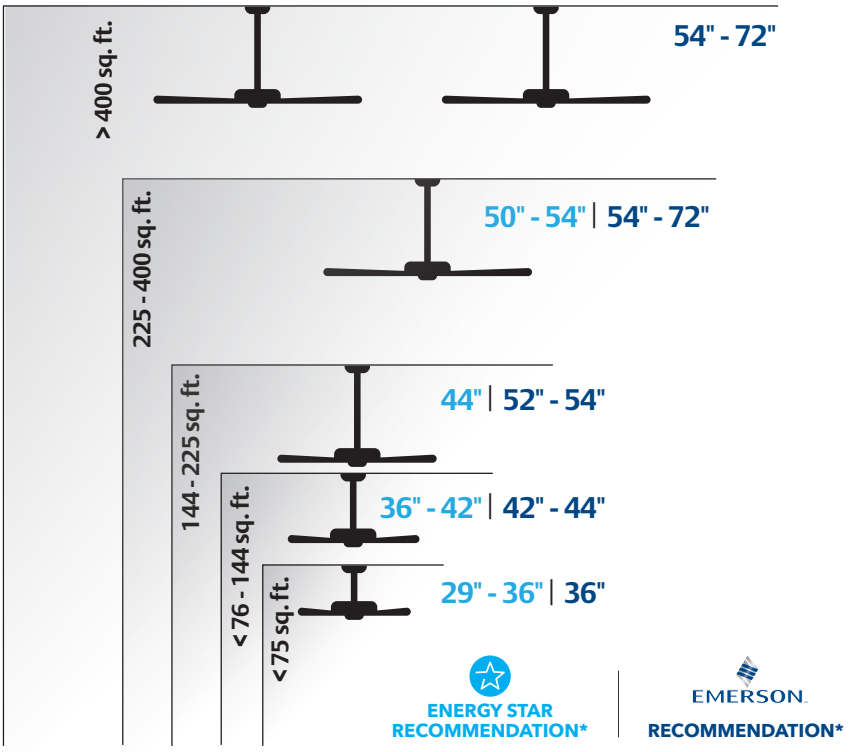
To maximize performance, choose the right fan size for your room. For long or large rooms, consider using more than one fan to handle your cooling requirements. For maximum comfort, the fan should be placed as close to the center of the room as possible and blade tips should be at least 18 inches from any wall.

RECOMMENDED BLADE SPAN FOR ROOM SIZE BASED ON AESTHETIC & AIRFLOW CONSIDERATIONS



* Not all models are Energy Star approved.

ENERGY SAVINGS CREATED BY THE ADDITION OF A CEILING FAN

Counter-Clockwise
Blade Rotation

Ceiling fans create a wind chill effect that can make a person feel cooler, allowing the user to raise his or her thermostat setting by 4˚, resulting in a reduction of overall usage costs.

Clockwise
Blade Rotation

Setting a ceiling fan to rotate clockwise at a low speed during the winter will also create energy savings. This warms the entire room by mixing the warm air sitting at the ceiling with the cooler air at the bottom of the room.
